Art Unit: 1791

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-6, drawn to a method for preparing a substrate for hybridization, classified in class 436, subclass 94.
- II. Claims 7-13 and 17-21, drawn to an apparatus for preparing a hybridization substrate, classified in class 422, subclass 100.
- III. Claims 14-16, drawn to a substrate for hybridization, classified in class 435, subclass 287.2.

The inventions are independent or distinct, each from the other because:

Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatus as claimed can be used for other processes such as press forming patterns in a hot plastic substrate.

Inventions I/III and II/III are related as process and product made and apparatus and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process or apparatus as claimed is not an obvious process or apparatus for making the product and the process or apparatus can be used for making a materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process or apparatus (MPEP § 806.05(g)). In this case, other and materially different processes and apparatus—ie, ones that would not require steps or means to collapse the moat, can make the substrate. In truth, the substrate can be formed by laminating the desired components together, the moat component already being formed of a material of the desired density prior to the lamination and one which would need no compressing.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
